FIRE CHIEF A. H. RUNGE.

His Restored Health Was Due to Paine's Celery Compound.

The position of chief of fire department in a big city like Minneapolis, with its acres of valuable building property, crossed by numerous railroad lines and dotted with factories where the fires are never "banked," is one of the utmost responsibility, and can be entrusted only to a man of unquestioned character and ability.

August H. Runge, who has filled this responsible position for several years with so much credit to himself and to the city, was born in New York in 1852, where he received a common school education.

What such a man as this has to say can scarcely fail to carry weight with it:

"With the hope that what I say may in some way be brought to the attention of others who, like myself, have suffered without any apparent cause, I feel constrained to recite a brief tale regarding my experience which I trust may never be repeated in my case.

"A few months ago, owing doubtless to the exacting nature of my duties as head of the fire department, I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness, to anguise which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting to almost nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night which I was almost certain was before me. Matters became so serious with me that I could no longer keep silent about myself, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day, he suggested that I try Paine's celery compound. I purchased a bottle and before I had taken a dozen doses I knew that the suggestion was a good one. I felt an improvement. I continued to use it, and felt restored. My appetite is good, and I sleep well, and instead of an irksome grind my business is again a pleasure to me. I attribute this happy state of affairs to Paine's celery compound."

As in the case of Fire Chief Runge, the beginning of poor health is very apt to rob one of the will power to start immediately about getting out of danger. It is this inertia of poor health that makes an ordinary "run-down" bodily condition so dangerous, and so likely to go on to something worse. Every day it is clearly shown that it won't do to live tired-out, and on the verge of breaking down. The languor and the lack of strength are sure to increase.

Now is the time to throw off disease. As the new year begins there are fewer hindrances to getting back strength and sturdy health. The bracing weather arouses a longing for health. Paine's celery compound, taken now, does its best service toward driving out disease and establishing firm health.

DISQUIETING RUMOR.

British Guiana Advices Indicate the Likelihood

Of Great Britain Dealing with Venezuela Without Regard to United States.

A Small Venezuelan Force Is Stationed on Banks of Cuyuni River.

COLON, Jan. 17. Advices from British Guiana indicate the likelihood of Great Britain dealing with Venezuela without any regard for the United States' desire to obtain arbitration of the dispute.

A small Venezuelan force under the command of Gen. McPherson, is stationed on the banks of the Cuyuni river.

News Received with Incredulity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. The statement made by the Central News of London that the destination of the British flying squadron is Bermuda instead of Delagoa Bay did not excite much interest when made known at the Navy Department today. It was received there, excepting by a few officers, with incredulity. A week ago there was a report at the department with which the Central News rumor fits in very nicely to the effect that the British government was displaying great activity in storing coal at its well fortified coaling and supply station at St. Lucia, near the Venezuelan coast.

At that time some naval officers stated that active preparations in British naval circles was the result as much of fear of serious trouble over the Venezuelan boundary dispute as of hostility with Germany on account of the Transvaal affair. Of course the expressions of these officers embodied merely their own opinions and beyond the information that coal is being stored at St. Lucia in great quantities nothing is known on the subject.

Believe English Flying Squadron is Going to West Indies.

LONDON, Jan. 17. Though the admiralty refuses to confirm the statement that the new flying squadron is destined for Bermuda it can be stated on the authority of officers attached to the squadron that they believe if they do not go to Bermuda they will go to some point in the West Indies. They do not know the nature of the service they are going on, but in view of the dispute with Venezuela the fact of the despatching of the squadron to the West Indies causes some anxiety.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Hawaiian Cable an Important Enterprise.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. The House Committee on Inter-State and Foreign Commerce to-day heard Edmund L. Baylies, of New York City, in support of the bill to establish a cable between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands. He spoke of its importance and said the cable if allowed will start from the coast of California or Oregon, and proceed to the Hawaiian Islands, 2,007 miles, thence in a southwesterly direction 1982 miles to the Marshall islands, thence northwesterly 2,502 miles to Yokohama, the total length of the cable being 6,590 miles.

It is estimated that the cost when ready for operation will be $7,500,000. He said it was proposed to ask from the United States government to aid in the building of the cable, a sum which would equal approximately $175,000 per year for twenty years; during this period the Japanese government to be asked to contribute $200,000 a year. Mr. Baylies said if the proposed cable was laid the rate for transmission of messages would in a short time be reduced from 30 to 50 per cent.

The Impeachment of Bowler.

The House Judiciary Committee to-day discussed the resolution of Mr. Boatner, of Louisiana, looking to the impeachment, of Comptroller Bowler for his action in stopping the payment of the sugar bounty authorized by Congress. While not finally acted upon it was practically agreed to report the matter back to the House with the request that the committee be authorized to inquire into the powers of the comptroller and report upon the state of the laws.

The committee ordered a favorable report on the bill of Mr. Curtis, of New York, to reduce the cases in which penalty of death may be inflicted. Instead of death the measure provides for imprisonment at hard labor for life.

Discharged Employes Make Charges Against Postoffice Department.

Messrs. Hill and Beight, two discharged employes of the Postoffice Department, today appeared before the subcommittee of the House Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads and charged that postal funds had been misappropriated by being used for the employment of secret agents. These agents were charged to be ward politicians used for political purposes. Messrs. Hill and Beight attempted to make general statements regarding alleged corruption in the Postoffice Department, but were stopped by Chairman Loud. First Assistant Postmaster General Jones was present and made a denial of their charges. The employment of secret agents, who were sent to various cities to look into postal matters, he said was legal. They were appointed with the full knowledge and consent of the civil service commission.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE

The Subject of Discussion at Young's Hotel Dinner.

The Massachusetts Reform Club Meets With a Large Attendance.

Prof. Hart, of Harvard, Delivers an Address on Interesting Topic.

BOSTON, Jan. 17. There were nearly 150 members and guests in attendance upon the dinner of the Massachusetts Reform Club at Young's Hotel this evening. The topic of discussion was "The Monroe Doctrine." President Hale introduced Prof. McMaster as the first speaker. Alfred S. Cassatt was the next speaker and Prof. Hart of Harvard was next introduced.

Professor Albert Bushnell Hart spoke somewhat as follows:

The main difficulty in defining the Monroe doctrine is that there are at least four different political principles which have been confused under the general title. The first of these is "the Monroe Doctrine," pure and simple, or rather, as it ought to be called, the "John Quincy Adams Doctrine," i. e., the doctrine as framed and enunciated between the years of 1817 and 1825. The second is what, by borrowing terminology from the exact sciences, may be called the "Monroevoid Doctrine," that is, the expansion of Monroe's general idea into a vague and not very distinctly enunciated theory of the duty of the United States to protect its neighbor for which Polk is most responsible, and which covers the years 1835 to 1869.

The third may fairly be termed the "Monroeless Doctrine," being the application of ordinary principles of self protection against the French invasion of Mexico. To the fourth stage it may not be irreverent to give the name of the "Ultra-Marine Doctrine," both from a cerulean gloominess as to the peril of the United States, and from a desire to apply it beyond the Carribean sea. This doctrine was first put forward by Sec. Fish, bloomed under Sec. Blaine, suffered from untimely frosts under Pres. Arthur, but has come up from the stalk with such new variation of diplomatic colors as might be expected from Bolton's favorite dealer in flowers of speech, Mr. Sec. Olney.

After the sketch of the origin of the Monroe doctrine to which we have just listened from Prof. McMaster, and to the accuracy of which it gives me great pleasure to testify, it is hardly necessary to expound the true Monroe doctrine, or to show what Monroe meant by it; but my much valued friend Prof. McMaster will allow me to say that the dispatch of Mr. Olney and the speech of Mr. Lodge seem open to the same objection as that raised by a theologian of five years of age to the proposition that God is omnipotent; "What does that mean?" asked she. "That God can do everything" "O? no, he can't—" "Why not, my child?" "Because He can't make a 2 year old mule in a minute."

Even omnipotence, even the Secretary of State himself, even the president of the Reform club cannot make James Monroe to have said what he did not say, nor to have thought upon questions which he had never considered. If we wish to know what the original Monroe doctrine meant we must take possession of the historical background which explains his message.

There were three disturbing elements in the new world in 1823. The first was the determination of the allied powers of Europe to prevent any more revolutions and the formation of what was termed the "holy alliance."

The real purpose of this arrangement, to which Monroe gave the name of "European political system," was to suppress insurrections wherever they might break out by the joint force of the allied powers. The next step was to ask for the kindly services of the allies in reducing the rebellious Spanish colonies in America.

The second great disturbing influence was the attitude of Russia, precisely that power which is now so earnestly urging the United States to remember that "Codlin is the friend, not Short."

The immediate concern of the United States was that Russia was pushing down the Pacific coast and claiming territory almost as far south as San Francisco. In 1821 the Russians attempted to exclude the vessels of all other countries from the north Pacific ocean and from approaching within a hundred miles of the Russian coast. Adams proceeded to pare the nails of the Russian bear, an amusement which at that time was considered more satisfying than the tail-twisting of any known animal.

On July 17, 1823, Adams told the Russian minister "that we should contest the right of Russia to any territorial establishment on this continent, and that we should assume distinctly the principle that the American continents are no longer subjects for any new European colonial establishments."

When Monroe was preparing his message, Adams was anxious that a note be sent to Russia protesting against the attempt, by forcible interposition, "to introduce monarchial principles into those countries." Calhoun and Wirt objected to a "hotnet paragraph" of that kind, and it was not introduced.

The third disturbing influence was the Spanish American revolution, which began in 1808, was renewed in 1814, and by 1821 had spread to all the Spanish continental possessions.

Brother Jonathan and John Bull found a common interest in the trade of those colonies, which would be again restricted if they returned to Spain. Heart sympathy and pocket sympathy combined in the United States to urge the recognition of the new republics during all the six years before the promulgation of the Monroe doctrine, and in repeated messages Monroe had expressed the interest of the United States.

Upon few cabinet transactions have we such definite information as that which the indiscreet diary of John Quincy Adams furnishes as to the discussions in which these three important lines of policy were forged and welded. And he makes it evident that some members of the cabinet cheered in the fear expressed by Henry Clay in 1821 that the liberty of the United States might be overthrown by the "giddiness and intoxication of power" of Europe.

The celebrated message which was the result of these deliberations contains three separate but related doctrines. The first, prompted by the immediate danger of intervention by third parties in the quarrel between Spain and her colonies, contains a celebrated and hard-worked clause which reappears in the most recent correspondence, that "We could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

In immediate connection with a paragraph on Russia the President declared as a "principle in which the rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintained, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power."

If any fact is established in American history it is that Monroe's message rose out of a Russian claim to territory which we ourselves desired; out of a profound dislike of third parties interfering, and out of the expressed belief that the Latin-American colonies could defend themselves against their mother country.

Neither can we assert what his successor, John Quincy Adams, would have done had he been backed up by a unanimous House and Senate, as he was supported by his ambitious and able Secretary of State, Henry Clay. What he did do was to declare that, "with the exception of the existing European colonies, which it was no wise intended to disturb, the two continents consisted of several sovereign and independent nations, whose territories covered their whole surfaces." But when he attempted in the Panama congress to make the United States stand forward as the sponsor and defender of the other Latin-American nations the country would not follow him.

It is now time to pass to the "Monroevoid doctrine," or rather I ought to say "doctrines," which began to spring up when Texas gained her independence in 1836. That there were declarations made by presidents and secretaries of State, and harking back to the Monroe doctrine is of course well known.

Both President Tyler and Polk were filled with just indignation at the land-grabbing policy of Great Britain, and were certain that immense areas of the North American continent were coveted by and would speedily fall into the hands of England. Therefore Tyler annexed Texas and Polk gave a lesson in boundary controversies with weak nations by throwing troops into a disputed belt to which the claim of Mexico was vastly better than that of the United States, and rebuked England's ambition by stealing 600,000 miles of undoubted Mexican territory.

In this same generation came the remarkable deviation from the usual unwillingness of our country to enter into political agreements with European nations, the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, by which the United States bound itself in perpetuity that it would not "obtain or maintain for itself any exclusive control over the said ship canal . . . or fortify, or colonize, or assume, or exercise any dominion over Nicaragua, Costa Rica, the Mosquito coast, or any part of Central America." Up to this time, therefore, it does not appear from the documents that the United States had gone much further than in 1823 in the assertion of an American policy.

AS A GENERAL PRINCIPLE.

Senate Committee Orders Favorable Report on Monroe Doctrine Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations discussed for two hours to-day the Monroe doctrine and finally, by vote, ordered a report of the resolution submitted by Mr. Davis, of Minnesota, chairman of the sub committee.

Mr. Turpie made an argument against the affirmation of Congress of the doctrine as a general principle. He believed it was sufficient for the doctrine to be applied when the specific cases arose.

He favored its application to the pending difficulty between Venezuela and Great Britain but thought it should rest there for the present.

UNUSUAL INCIDENT

In the Proceedings of the House on Friday.

In Chaplain's Prayer a Reference to Cuba Caused Applause.

The Pension Bill Passed, Prompt Work by Republican House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17. Applause following the delivery of a prayer in the House is an unusual, probably an unprecedented incident in its proceedings, but when Chaplain Coudan today offered the following invocation: "Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the degree of special liberty which we as a people enjoy, and our hearts go out for those in other lands who are struggling for a wider liberty. Especially do we pray for the Cubans and ask that if they be right their efforts may be crowned with success, and we pray that our country may do for them all that it can without compromising its dignity or disregard of its sacred obligations and duties to other nations," there was a lively on break of hand clapping all over the floor.

A joint resolution proposed by Mr. Moody (Rep., Mass.) providing for the distribution of undistributed sets of the naval records of the rebellion by members of the 54 h Congress instead of disposing of them at public sale as at present required by law, was agreed to.

A message from the President was laid before the House, asking prompt legislation to further extend the time in which legislation in relation to the forfeiture of railroad land grants may be prosecuted by the attorney general. It was read and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

The House went into committee of the whole, Mr. Dingley in the chair, on motion of Mr. W. A. Stone (Rep., Pa.) to consider the general pension appropriation bill under the five-minute rule.

Mr. Mahon (Rep., Pa.) offered an amendment making a pension once granted a vested right, to be disturbed only on the ground of fraud. This was passed over temporarily.

Mr. Bartlett (Dem., N. Y.) made a point of order against the provision in the bill as reported that a widow claimant having less that $500 a year income is, within the meaning of the law, "without other means of support than daily labor." The provisions were opposed by several members, as not changing the existing law.

Chairman Dingley sustained the point of order and the provision was stricken out.

Mr. Stone offered an amendment in a modified form and that was rejected on another point of order.

In view of these rulings by the chairman, Mr. Mahon withdrew his amendment declaring a pension to be a vested right.

Mr. Wood (Rep., Ill.) offered an amendment to specifically include pensioners of the late war in the terms of the bill, arguing that failure to do so would jeopardize the payment of pensions to them. The proposition was warmly discussed and finally rejected on a point of order. Several other proposed amendments failed to secure consideration because obnoxious to the rule and existing laws, but two or three to perfect the text was agreed to.

Mr. Gruff (Rep., Ill.) withdrew a proposed amendment to prevent a reduction or withdrawal of pension except in proceeds instituted in the federal court.

He announced that the proposition would be submitted to the Committee on Invalid Pensions to be incorporated in a bill to revise the pension laws.

The committee rose and the bill was passed without a dissenting voice.

Mr. W. A. Stone (Rep., Pa.) stated that the pension bill had passed the House 52 days ahead of the passage of any similar bill in the last two Congresses. (Applause).

The House then adjourned until Monday.

The Speaker laid before the House today a communication from the Secretary of War recommending an appropriation of $150,000 for rapid fire guns. The guns requested are for arming fortifications and an estimate for them could not be submitted sooner, as the tests for this type of guns are not completed by the ordnance department.

Among the bills introduced in the House today were the following:

By Mr. Towne (Rep., Minn.) declaring that bicycles, for the purpose of transportation by common carrier, shall be deemed baggage, and providing that a charge of not more than 2 mills per mile be made for their transportation.

By Mr. Shafroth (Rep., Col.) authorizing the Secretary of War to exchange with the national guards of the States Springfield rifles of the 1894 pattern for those now in use.

By Mr. Cobb, (Dem., Mo.) requiring yachts, ferryboats and other small craft propelled by gasoline, naphtha, etc., to be inspected as required of other steam vessels.

SUSTAINED THE GOVERNMENT.

Japanese Diet Votes Down Proposition Adverse to Administration.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. Despatches received at the Japanese legation state that on the ninth vote taken in the diet, or Japanese congress, upon motion to memorialize the emperor against the foreign policy of the government and especially against its relinquishment of the Liao Tung peninsula, the motion was defeated, 170 to 103. The full membership of the diet is 300. This result, inasmuch as the diet has almost invariably been hostile to the administration, is regarded as a signal victory for the government.

NOT A BED OF ROSES.

United States Minister at Korea Tired and Wants to be Retired.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. It is rumored at the State Department that a change will be made within a day or two in the legation at Seoul, Korea. John M. B. Sill is the present United States minister and consul-general at the Korean capital, appointed from Michigan, Jan. 12, 1894. His position has not been a bed of roses and it is intimated that he will probably be retired at his own request. The salary of the place is $7,500.

SEVEN MEN KILLED.

Negro Railroad Laborers Killed by Cave-in.

WALTERBORO, S. C., Jan. 17. Seven negro laborers on the Walterboro and Western railroad, sleeping in an underground camp near Williams, this county, were killed last night by the earth above them falling on them.

Almost a century ago, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, a noble remedy, was first made known.

A little tale I would rehearse
Of one, once sick, who soon grew worse.
With boils and blotches covered o'er,
He took of remedies (?) a score.
Alas, they all did fail to heal,
While he each day still worse did feel.
Up spoke a friend: "Your blood's impure
"But Dr. Pierce can heal you sure
"His 'G. M. D.' will quickly cure."
Like balm on wounds these words were poured,
The sick man's health was soon restored.

Impure blood is caused by want of healthy action on the part of the liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best remedy in the world for livers, and for purifying the blood and system from all poisons and impurities of whatever name or nature.

SORES ON HIS HANDS.

"I had very sore ears for 18 months and every one pronounced it to be salt rheum. I tried several different remedies but nothing did me any good and the sores kept growing worse. Finally I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking one bottle my ears began to get better and before I had finished the second bottle my ears were well." Emma G. SPECULATION HIS RUIN.

E. C. Morris, Safe Manufacturer, Missing—Found to be a Forger.

BOSTON, Jan. 17. E. C. Morris, the well known safe manufacturer and dealer, left Boston about two weeks ago and nothing has been heard from him. He forged the name of his father-in-law, Hon. Frank M. Ames, on notes which will probably aggregate $75,000.

The notes were widely distributed among the banks, trust companies and brokers and other business men. Mr. Morris is 51 years and was favorably known here.

He was originally of the safe dealing firm of Morris & Ireland, and later formed the E. C. Morris Safe Co. from the management of which he was forced to retire about a year ago. He is a man of correct habits, pleasant and popular. His downfall was due to speculation, that having been his sole occupation during the past year. He probably lost most or all of the $75,000 in that way. An examination of his affairs shows he owes $150,000, much of it to personal friends.

UNSATISFACTORY LOCATIONS.

Harrington and Addison Protest and Railroad Commissioners Look Over Ground.

CHERRYFIELD, Me., Jan. 17. A meeting of the railroad commissioners of Maine was held here today. The business before them was the question of accepting the location of that part of the Washington County railroad between East Machias and Cherryfield as surveyed by the contractors' engineers. Remonstrances from the towns of Harrington and Addison against a portion of the route were presented, the objection being that it runs too far from their business centres. The commissioners reserved their decision.

FIRE IN RANDOLPH.

Hotel Destroyed and People Narrowly Escaped Suffocation.

GARDINER, Me., Jan. 17. The Randolph Exchange, formerly the Marston House at Randolph, Maine, was gutted by fire early this morning, caused by the explosion of a lamp. The building was owned by A. L. Perry, of this city, and managed by Joseph B. Foye, whose loss is total on furniture. His family narrowly escaped suffocation. The damage is about $2,000; insured for $1,500.

MARYLAND DEADLOCK.

Some Prospect of a Settlement of the Struggle.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 17. The Republicans in the Maryland general assembly are becoming restive and some are ready to break ranks and put an end to the senatorial deadlock. Today the vote was fruitless, except that the two leaders in the race improved their positions a trifle. Wellington gained four votes and Goldsborough three. Senator Dryden withdrew from the contest and announced his preference as being for Mr. Goldsborough. It is understood that because of his withdrawal Senator Dryden will receive the nomination for Congress for his district.

The Committee of Organization of the House today decided to hold a caucus with the idea of bringing the senatorship question to an early settlement. President Bruce, of the Senate, told Speaker Mudd if a senator is not elected to-morrow the Democrats might join forces with one of the Republican candidates.

The ballot to-day was: Wellington 30, Goldsboro 22, Wentcott 15, Milliken 8, Dixon 1, Mudd 1. The Democrats gave Smith 19 votes, Page 8 and Wirt 15.

Campos and Ardrius Recalled.

LONDON, Jan. 17. A despatch to the Central News from Madrid says that the cabinet this evening decided to recall from Cuba Captain-General Campos and his brother-in-law, Gen. Ardrius, second in command. Generals Marin and Pando will be temporarily substituted in their places. Superior command in the island will be conferred on General Weyler, who will sail for Cuba forthwith in company with General Polavija.

in buying stoneware. Partly on account of local pride but mostly because Bangor makes the finest stoneware in the country. We can get cheaper Bean Pots and Butter Pots but they're cheaper in quality as well as in price. Still we sell them nearly as low as others sell the cheaper ones, a little less profit, perhaps, but increased sales make it up.

Of course, same remarks apply to all the stoneware productions.

SATURDAY JANUARY 18 1896

Mayor Snow declared himself in favor of the increase in the salary of his office and upon the Commercial ordered him to come about and veto the order. It now remains to be seen whether Mr Snow or the Commercial is running the Mayor's office. There has been a strong suspicion for some time that all orders have been issued from Main street since the present incumbent entered upon the duties of the office, and now the question is in a fair way to be determined. The Mayor has received his orders. Is he going to obey

Philadelphia Record: In seeking to amend the Dingley Four Hour tariff bill so as to include sugar in the scheme for a horizontal 15 per cent increase of duties Senator Jones of Nevada, is on the right track. The pretended intent of the bill is to raise revenue. An increased tax on sugar would effect that [illegible]. Senator Jones may stand out against the bill for silver rather than for sugar reasons, but it often happens that men do right things from wrong motives. It is to be hoped that Jones will not recede from his position.

The above paragraph is quoted approvingly by the Commercial. The effect of Senator Jones' stand in connection with the revenue bill is liable to defeat it altogether. It is an emergency bill and once the door is opened to amend it the whole tariff question is apt to come up for consideration with the [illegible] against any legislation. The [illegible] of Maine who are anxiously waiting for the passage of the bill as it came from the House and without undue delay will not be particularly pleased with the [illegible] endorsement of Senator Jones' obstruction. But the Editor [illegible] super excitable [illegible] does not know any better

Democratic Convention.

The Democratic National Convention will meet in Chicago on July 7th. For several ballots St. Louis held the lead with New York a good second. On the twenty ninth ballot however the [illegible] turned and Chicago was selected. It was not a cheerful gathering. [illegible] delivered sort of a funeral oration in urging the claims of St. Louis. [illegible] the Democrats expect to lose [illegible] and Ohio and may lose New York, but if they lost Missouri it will be [illegible] that solid phalanx of Democratic votes that have stood like a granite wall before the attacks of the Republican hordes. And you will then be in the hands of the Republican enemy for an indefinite time to come. In order to prevent this break in the solid phalanx of Democratic votes Senator Vest [illegible] to be of the opinion that it was absolutely necessary to hold the convention in St. Louis. As the committee finally decided upon Chicago in spite of his warning it appears that the members do not think it will make much difference where the convention is held as people are sure to turn to the Republican party once more in the coming campaign.

Significant Figures

New York Herald which keeps up its misleading attempts to vindicate the Democratic tariff for deficit only has easily [illegible] the Dingley revenue measure on the ground that it deprives the people of the great boon of free wool. In this connection it is interesting to note the statistics showing the exports of woolen goods from Bradford and to this country under the first year's operation of the existing tariff. In this single year the value of exports from Bradford amounted to $6,210 or $17,368,245 more than the value of the same character of goods during the [illegible] time the McKinley tariff was in operation. Taking all the exports of wool and woolen goods from Great Britain and the [illegible] show an increase of some thirty millions in the first year of a Democratic tariff over the last year of the Republican tariff. These are fearfully significant. They show that the goods that should have been manufactured in this country by [illegible] have been replaced with [illegible] of the cheaper labor in England. It is little wonder the London [illegible] in view of the increasing [illegible] for the British manufacturers, [illegible] frankly declared that the Democratic tariff was the salvation of British industries.

The New Loan

Boston Advertiser says: The distribution of the Morgan syndicate has brought gladness to pretty much every [illegible] in the United States excepting the comparatively few men who hoped to [illegible] the profits of a repetition of the [illegible] transaction of last February, by which the government lost and syndicate members gained many millions of dollars, and, excepting, also, the more numerous but yet relatively small number of Cleveland-Carlisle worshippers who hoped for a failure of the so-called popular loan, in order that they might be able to say "I told you so". Last year's bonds never could have been sold [illegible] more than this year's can be without recourse to the syndicate.

For many reasons the country is to be congratulated on the now assured success of the experiment of offering bonds directly to the investing public. The circumstance that at least $10,000,000 will be saved to the national treasury by it is itself important, but is the least important. Far more important is the proof which is offered to all the world that Americans have perfect faith in the integrity of the great American Republic.

It will not, indeed, be a "popular" loan in the sense in which that proposed by the Dingley bond bill would be, but the passage through the House of the Dingley bond bill had a great and salutary effect in convincing the Administration that the country would not patiently endure any more secret syndicate business.

The Kentucky Situation

The attempt in certain quarters to make it appear that Senator Blackburn, who is seeking a renomination in Kentucky, is running contrary to his party on the financial issue, excites the ire of the Brooklyn Standard Union. Commenting upon a paragraph in one of its contemporaries the Standard-Union says: "It wish to continue the false pretense of the Cleveland faction that the silver craze is over in the Democratic party? Does not the whole world now know about that unfortunate lying? Who is the dominant faction of the Democratic party? Plainly the Blackburn faction in Kentucky. The mandate of the party was the reaffirmation of that stupid down lie and arrant swindle, the Chicago platform. The Kentucky platform was a falsehood, and a free silver man was nominated for Governor. [illegible] Blackburn has put the Cleveland fraud under his feet in Kentucky, whether he is elected to the Senate or not. He may be defeated, as the free silver Democratic candidate was, but he has the regular nomination of the Democrats in the Senatorial caucus for re-election to the Senate, receiving 37 votes to 13 fo. Gov. McCreary, and the caucus made it unanimous. There were 14 who refused to go into the caucus, and, of course, they will not be allowed to dictate the election of a Carlisle or Cleveland man, or, as the great majority of Kentuckians would say, any other Wall street man.

The Democratic papers in half a dozen or so Northeastern States have been grossly falsifying about the Democratic party in Kentucky, and have had the aid of ill-informed Republicans and over stuffed Mugwumps. Three-fourths of them are for fifty-cent dollars. Mr. Carlisle made strong speeches, but the Kentuckians are not with him, except in small samples.

THE CUBAN WAR.

General Situation Remains, Unchanged There.

Important Conference Held at Havana Thursday.

Havana, Jan 17—The general situation is unchanged. The rebels have retired from the vicinity of Bejucal. Traffic has been resumed on the railway to Rincon. Very little news is being received from the interior of the Island owing to lack of trains and the cutting of the telegraph lines by the insurgents. An official report has been issued stating that General Luque has had an engagement with the rebels near Candaleria in the province of Pinar Del Rio.

The government force used artillery. The fight lasted two hours, when the rebels retreated leaving seven dead behind them. The government loss was seven seriously wounded. The troops captured sixty horses and a quantity of arms and ammunition. The rebels were commanded by Nunez Bermudez and Alvarez.

Gen Linares reports that he has dispersed a band of forty rebels near Palmira in the Cienfuegos district. Three men on each side were killed. An official report states that a fight has taken place near Cascorro between the rebels under command of Roloff, Masso, Rodriguez, Aguero and Castillor and the Spanish regiment "Mexico" under the command of Col Moro. The regiment formed a square and fought for an hour and a half when a brilliant bayonet charge was made.

The troops used 14,074 cartridges. The enemy were compelled to retreat. Eleven of their horses were killed. It is certain that the insurgents lost 40 or 50 men.

Gen Suarez met and disbanded Gomez killing and wounding some of his men who were left on the field. Col Molina defeated a band in the jurisdiction of Colon. The column of Torry also defeated the enemy in the Clarera plantation. Col Marti also met and defeated another band in Santi Spiritus. There have been other small encounters also to the advantage of the Spanish but without great result because of the policy of scattering adopted by the insurgents.

Summoned to Havana

Madrid, Jan 17—A despatch from Havana says General Campos has summoned Generals Pando and Martin to Havana. This action is taken to indicate that some striking developments are close at hand or that Gen Martinez Campos intends to resign. Gen Luque has totally broken Antonio Maceo's rear guard at Angostura.

Important Conference

Havana Jan 17—An important conference was held yesterday afternoon between Gen Campos and the committee composed of three political leaders each representing one of the three existing political parties. The conference was held for the purpose of freely and frankly discussing the conduct of the Spanish campaign against the Cuban insurrectionists. Gen Campos asked each of the leaders his opinion in regard to the subject of discussion and invited candid expressions of opinion.

The leader representing the Autonomist party expressed complete satisfaction with the conduct of the campaign but the leaders of the Reformists and Conservatives expressed exactly contrary opinions. Gen Campos at the conclusion of the conference informed the committee of his decision to consult the government at Madrid in regard to the various expressions of opinion on the part of the committee concerning the campaign against the insurgents. There is a strong feeling of sympathy with Gen Campos among the best class of residents by whom he is regarded as Spain's ablest commander.

Want Campos Recalled

Madrid Jan 17—The leader of the Constitutional Union and Reformist parties of Cuba have cabled to the government here demanding recall of General Campos from the command of the Spanish army in Cuba and a cabinet council has been called to discuss the question. Gen Polavieja, the probable successor of General Campos has started from Seville for Madrid.

Cecil Rhodes Talks

London Jan 17—The correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette at Cape Town sends to that paper a report of an interview with Cecil J. Rhodes, ex-premier of the Cape Colony just prior to the latter's embarking for England. Mr Rhodes is represented as saying: "It is of the highest importance that the situation should not be prejudged. Until all of the facts are known the people of Johannesburg should not be thought cowards though they were undoubtedly crushed by the Boers in the recent conflict."

Mr. Rhodes expressed hope that Mr Chamberlain would support the Uitlanders in their efforts to obtain reforms. He thought that President Kruger would prosecute a few of the reform committee arrested in Johannesburg with extreme severity but would finally be compelled to concede the main points of the Uitlanders' demands.

WILL WAIT

And See What Old Parties Do

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 17. A convention of the advocates of free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, made up of delegates of both Democrat and Republican parties was held here yesterday and the field canvassed for the formation of a party and the putting of a gubernatorial ticket in the field. It was decided to issue an address to the people, setting forth the financial condition from a free silver standpoint and await the action of the two old parties upon the issue in the national convention. If such silver legislation as they demand is not put in the platform then a convention should be called for the formation of a free coinage party.

Thrilling Experience on U S Cruiser Baltimore

Four Days and a Half in the Midst of the Storm

Washington, Jan 17—[illegible] of the navy today received a report by mail from Capt [illegible] commanding the United States [illegible] Baltimore giving a [illegible] of the thrilling experiences of the [illegible] typhoon while on the way [illegible] Yokohama to Honolulu.

The report [illegible] who received the Baltimore [illegible] sailed for San Francisco [illegible]. Although told in the [illegible] language of the [illegible] the story which Capt. Day [illegible] his communication is [illegible].

The Baltimore sailed [illegible] Dec [illegible] and on the night [illegible] succeeding day was overtaken [illegible] typhoon at 400 miles off the coast. Four days and a half was lying in the midst of the storm.

On the 5th the weather could had grown much worse. hatches battened down, the ship stowed, steerage way and all preparations made for heavy weather. The barometer fell steadily during all the days of the typhoon until it reached 28.50 in the morning of the ninth. Long before this Capt. Day had concluded that the ship was in the northeast quadrant of a typhoon, the wind blowing against the Japan current with such great force that a very wicked sea with a remarkably steep advancing front and it was apparent that of serious consequences should [illegible] tempt to keep away as I could not [illegible] saw no other safe course than to head to it.

"The ship took many seas [illegible] during the time she was hove to [illegible] typhoon some of them heavy. In running off comparatively little was shipped.

She would have done much [illegible] head to," says Captain Day, "[illegible] stopped the engines and rode to a sea anchor.

Ships should be supplied with [illegible] an appliance. It would be difficult to improvise one and [illegible] the midst of a heavy gale. [illegible] done was not serious but the [illegible] men were sacrificed. The [illegible] penter Isaac Cooper who was killed [illegible] being thrown violently to the deck [illegible] and [illegible] Jessen acting boatswain who was lost overboard under [illegible] which made it impossible to [illegible] A number of the boats were [illegible] some of the deck fittings [illegible] away and railings bent.

In conclusion Capt Day [illegible] ship has been looked upon with [illegible] tion as regards her sea [illegible] and for my part I have [illegible] sirous of testing her. But [illegible] formance in the gale may [illegible] her has been fully established [illegible] sider her an excellent sea boat [illegible] could have done better. It [illegible] worst weather I ever [illegible] at sea yet the ship went through [illegible] out serious damage or danger [illegible] quite fit to encounter another [illegible].

Believed that Refusal of Red Cross Work Did not Come from Sultan

Boston Jan 17—In an [illegible] day Mr Hagop Boggos [illegible] known representative of the [illegible] race said: "I have reason [illegible] the so called refusal of the [illegible] ernment to allow the entrance [illegible] Cross into Turkey did not come [illegible] Sultan but originated with [illegible] ous representative of the Sultan [illegible] country with the cooperation [illegible] the cruelest and most delusive [illegible] the palace in Constantinople [illegible] been the authors of the terrible [illegible] late in Turkey, and who [illegible] all they can to cover it.

"I believe that the Sultan [illegible] kept in ignorance of the real [illegible] case, and has been kept in [illegible] time. The distress of the [illegible] is so great that it completely [illegible] shadowed that disaster. [illegible] are not only mourning for their [illegible] ones, but are surrounded by [illegible] country, homeless, naked and [illegible] deprived of all means of gaining [illegible] to sustain life.

"Yet the Turkish legation at Washington, with unparalleled cooln[illegible] the world, we need neither [illegible] nor your Red Cross work. [illegible] fusal would finally convince [illegible] that Turkey means that the [illegible] done in this country, shall not be [illegible] shall not even be investigated [illegible] not be whitnessed by other eyes than [illegible] own. The human mind staggers to believe such a policy among the [illegible] ties even with the Turkish rule."

WANTS TO FIGHT

Spanish Paper in Mexico Makes Lots of Talk

Mexico City, Jan. 17.—El Correo Espanol, the organ of the Spanish [illegible] complains of Secretary Olney's [illegible] dience to Cuban leaders, and says that the provocation to Spain could not be more evident, for, although the recognition of belligerent rights does not imply under international law, the breaking out of hostilities, every one knows such a recognition extended to the Cuban insurgents means, for Spain serious harm on account of the proximity of the United States to Cuba for in such case the Cubans could easily avail themselves of the great facilities which the United States affords for obtaining all sorts of supplies.

Canovas, for this reason has said it continues, that the recognition of Cuban belligerency by any American nation would be taken by Spain as equivalent to a declaration of war, and that Spain would act upon this supposition.

"American statesmen are not far sighted, and imagine that Spain is not in a condition to take the offensive, but it will not be this nation of mechanics who will humiliate our pride not suffocate our energies, not will its feeble fighting squadron inspire fear, not its undisciplined troops. The power of the United States is more apparent than real, and that nation is in no condition to make its arms respected. Every Spaniard desires war with the United States. We want this war to demonstrate to the United States that we are strong and not degenerated, and know how to make our rights respected.

THE doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the "local-application" treatment are abhorrent to every modest woman. They are embarrassing—often useless. They should not be submitted to until everything else has been tried. In nine cases out of ten, there is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice isn't competent to treat female diseases. They make a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments. They can be properly understood and treated only by one who has had years of actual practice and experience in this particular line. This is true of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for all derangements of the reproductive organs of women, has been in actual use for more than thirty years. It was originally sold with an absolute guarantee that it would cure every case, or that the money paid for it would be refunded. Its success has been so universal that this guarantee is no longer necessary. The "Favorite Prescription" relies now upon the thousands of testimonials from grateful and happy women, in all parts of the land, whose lives have been made worth living by its use. "Favorite Prescription" is sold by druggists.

Complete information regarding it, and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

TWO KILLED

And Others So Injured that Death is Likely.

Fatal Accident on the New York Central Friday Morning.

New York, Jan. 17.—Two persons were killed and three others badly injured, two of whom will probably die, on the New York Central railroad at One Hundred and Forty-Fourth street and Fourth avenue bridge about 6 o'clock this morning.

The five persons were employed as car cleaners by the Wagner Palace Car Co., and were walking north on the New Haven railroad tracks to avoid a New Haven express train. As they stepped on the New York Central track they were struck by an engine of the latter road.

The killed are Lizzie Beecker, 36 years old, crushed and instantly killed; Delia Mahan, 36 years years old, crushed, and died at Mott Haven depot ten minutes after the accident. Injured: Maria Drumm, 65 years old, internal injuries; Maggie Treacy, 35 years old, right foot cut off and right leg fractured; Louis Yendor, 50 years old, fracture of right leg and internal injuries, probably fatal.

The five car cleaners met at 6 o'clock at the Mott Haven depot as is their custom daily, all of them except old Mrs. Drumm having been brought from Forty-Second street on the 5.45 local train, north bound. They were to report at the freight yard at 7 o'clock and started to walk up the tracks to the car house at One Hundred and Fifty-Eighth street.

It was dark when they started and the first streak of gray had just appeared in the sky when the party walking on the north bound track were struck.

The Beecker and Mahan women were walking ahead. When around the curve at One Hundred and Forty-Sixth street, the head light of the Chatham express, south bound on the New York, New Haven and Hartford tracks, loomed up ahead. The women gave a cry and sprang to the north bound track which is on the left. They were just in time and the express swept by.

Not dreaming that they were in danger the party continued on their way but had gone only a few steps when there was a crash, a few agonized shrieks and five bodies lay on and beside the tracks and an engine going north at full speed disappeared in the darkness.

Engineer Charles Burr did not see the five people until he was right upon them. He jerked the lever back frantically and pulled the whistle rope. A hundred yards further on he brought his engine to a stand still and ran back to the spot. Henry Williams, a laborer, was carrying the body of the Becker woman to the bank. She was dead. Mrs. Mahan lay in the ditch to the left of the tracks gasping and bleeding. Between the tracks with her feet cut off the Tracey woman lay and Yender and old Mrs. Drumm had been hurled to the bank a distance of ten feet.

HEAVY GALES

Prevailing in Pacific Coast—Much Damage Done.

San Francisco, Jan. 17.—A storm of exceptional severity swept the Pacific coast last night. It was central over Oregon and Southern Washington. From every coast station between the British Columbia boundary and Los Angeles either rain or snow was reported. Reports from interior points were lacking in most instances owing to interruption to telegraph wires, but those received indicate a much heavier rain and snow fall than usual accompanied by high winds.

Severe squalls prevailed along the seacoast and storm signals were displayed at all ports. In San Francisco harbor considerable damage to small craft resulted and though no loss of life was recorded many narrow escapes were reported. At 5 o'clock this morning the gales had spent their fury and clear weather is predicted.

A furious storm raged all along the coast of Oregon and Washington last night.

Drumond, an Englishman, is said to have some connection with the scheme to overthrow the present government. The plot is being formed in Guatemala.

FINAL RETURNS

Show a Great Victory for the Government.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 17. Final returns, from the provincial elections show that the government carried 30 out of 40 seats with straight supporters and with a good majority, redeeming six seats formerly held by the opposition. The opposition carried five seats, of which three are French and controlled by the Catholic influences., the Independents 2 and the Patrons 2. Of the candidates elected, 35 are pledged to support the national school, which makes almost a clean sweep for the national schools outside of the French constituencies. Premier Greenway regards the verdict as a wonderful triumph. He says that in view of this result the federal government will never attempt to coerce Manitoba.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Senate Committee Adopts Monroe Doctrine Resolution to Cover Any and All Cases.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations met at 10.45 this morning for the purpose of considering the Monroe Doctrine resolution now before that committee. All the members were present but one. Senator Gray made an elaborate argument against the adoption of a resolution affirming the Monroe Doctrine but his argument fell upon deaf ears. The committee was overwhelmingly in favor of such a resolution. It was proposed by Mr. Davis, of Minnesota, chairman of the sub-committee, and was, after prolonged discussion, made still stronger in one or two particulars.

The application of the doctrine by various Secretaries of State has led to contradictory positions and as one member of the committee maintained, to dangerous admissions. This the committee intends to obviate by enacting into law a resolution of such broad and general character that, those hereafter charged with the diplomatic correspondence of the government need only cite its provisions. The resolution to be reported to the Senate will be sufficient to cover any and all cases.

The committee adjourned at 12 45 after voting to adopt the resolution submitted by Mr. Davis. The committee voted not to give out the text till it is reported to the Senate on Monday.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Between 600 and 700 Men Quit Work.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. Between 600 and 700 members of the Upholsters Union have quit work to resist a recent order of the Manufacturers' Association that the men shall work ten hours a day against the previous system of piece work. Half the union men in the city are out of work and the workingmen demand eight hours work so that more men may be furnished employment.

Reports Exaggerated.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 17. The first reports regarding the strike at the works of the Westinghouse Electric Company at East Pittsburg were greatly exaggerated. According to an attorney there are only a few girls who refused to accept certain rules of the company who went out, amounting in all to not more than one-tenth of the entire force. The trouble arose owing to the introduction of the new machinery which will much facilitate the process of production. The operation of the company's works will not be affected in the least.

Miners on Strike.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 17. Miners employed by the Morris Coal Co. at Jobs, Ohio, are on strike. One of the men was discharged because he sent bone coal out with good coal. The entire struck because the company refused to reinstate the man. Over one thousand men are affected.

JAPAN AND COREA.

Strong Feeling Over the Former's Alleged Policy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. The latest advices from Tokio says that a very strong feeling has been exhibited in Japan by a rumor that the government contemplates a policy of scuttle in Corea or at any rate is seeking to divide with the western powers the responsibility of effecting reforms there. Journals of every shade of political opinion concur in denouncing such a programme. They declare that Japan's avowed object in going to war with China was to secure Corean independence by introducing such progressive reforms as should make the country strong against foreign aggression and they emphasize the plain deduction that if she now abandons the role then assumed by her she virtually invalidates her alleged reasons for fighting. Beneath all this criticism a strong under current of anti-Russian sentiment is visible.

The latest news from Shansi, the seat of the Mohamm dan rebellion, is that the imperial forces, aggregating only 15,000 and commanded by Gen. Tung, are confronted by a force of a hundred and fifty thousand soldiers of Islam. China is gradually drawing into her employment a large number of commissioned and non commissioned German officers to instruct her troops in strategy and tactics. More than fifty of these instructors are now stationed in Nunking alone.

WEST INDIA ISLANDS.

Senator Lodge Makes Further Statement Regarding Their Annexation.

A Washington despatch says: Senator Lodge, who introduced the resolution to investigate the report that the Danish government was willing to sell its islands in the West Indies, Thursday, in substance said: "In 1867, a treaty was signed at Copenhagen for cession to the United States of the Danish West India Islands of St. Thomas and St. John. The inhabitants of the islands voted in favor of the annexation but the Senate failed to ratify the treaty. It is now reported that Denmark would be willing again to 'part' with the islands and would prefer to sell them to the United States. It is very important we should have in the West Indies a good naval coaling station which would be furnished by the admirable harbor of St. Thomas. But there is involved a far more important question of our general policy. Possession of a small European power is of constant danger, because they may at any moment be offered to some of the great powers of Europe and their transfer would bring up very perilous questions. The treaty of cession between Denmark and the United States ought, if possible, to include all the Danish possessions in the Americas, namely, the three West India Islands of St. John, St. Thomas and St. Croix and Greenland. I do not suppose it can be said certainly whether there is mineral wealth in Greenland although I should suppose it quite possible. But it is a portion of the American continent in a very important position geographically and it is much better it should be in our hands and in no danger of passing into the hands of any one else. Both the islands and Greenland could easily be managed by making them territorial governments."

Fortunate Investment by Lewiston Young Man.

Narrow Escape from Death of Brakeman Stowe.

Androscoggin.

At a meeting of the Twin City Bicycle Club an invitation to unite with the Lewiston Civic Progress League and Board of Trade in a public meeting in behalf of street improvement in Lewiston, was enthusiastically received and a committee was appointed to co-operate with the organizations. The date of this public meeting will soon be announced. There is great interest in the subject and an appeal backed by much influence will be made to the city fathers to at once take the first steps for putting the administration of our street department on a non-partisan, scientific basis.

A Lewiston young man bought six acres of pasture land in Greene three years ago and planted it to Baldwin apple trees. Almost all of them seem to be doing well and only one has shown any signs of injury by winter cold. At the time the young man was working at his trade in Lewiston and wished to put his savings into some investment. In a few years from now the property will begin to return the money he put in. When the apple trees are all bearing the crop will amount to something. He is planning now to buy another piece of land near and set out more trees.

A Lewiston jeweler was doing up a tortoiseshell comb the other day and was asked if he could mend it. "Yes, it can be mended," said he. "Tortoiseshell, although beautiful, is brittle and unfortunately breaks easily. Combs and many expensive articles, long ettes particularly—which, by the way, are used this winter more than ever—are discarded because of a damage. Tortoiseshell can be easily repaired. One who has experimented with success says: 'Slope the margins by scraping off the broken pieces for the distance of about a quarter of an inch from the edge. Then place them so that the margin overlap one another and, thus arranged, clamp them between a strong iron letter clip and immerse in boiling water for some time. The pieces by this means become so perfectly united that the joint cannot be seen.' Protracted heating of tortoiseshell, it should be noted, darkens it and greatly lessens its beauty. So care must be taken that the heating is not unduly prolonged."

Cumberland.

Brakeman Walter Stowe on Jewell's special narrowly escaped a horrible death by being struck in the back of the head by the Portland & Rumford Falls overhead bridge. He was knocked from the top of the train to the frozen ground below, receiving a bad cut in the back of the head, and several bad bruises Fortunately no bones were broken and he was able to walk half a mile to his train and was taken to Portland for medical treatment.

The Enterprise, one day this week, met one of the most prominent ice cutters on the Kennebec, and had a little talk with him regarding the prospects for this year. He said that the prospects now are that Maine ice will be in good demand and that a considerable amount of it will be cut. He tells us that the upriver fields are in fairly good condition but that considerable planing will be necessary because the dust along the shores has been blown onto the ice. He said that some of the fields were in poor condition but on the whole they would prove quite good, and said he doubted if much ice would be cut south of us this year.—Bath Enterprise.

A marine monster is on exhibition here similar in shape to the ram recently built by Gen. T. W. Hyde, with a coat of armor ranging from seven inches to one and one-half inches in thickness. The creature is about eight feet in length by four feet through. It is something unknown to scientists, so it is said, and is truly a queer specimen. The exhibitor tells us that it was captured by Capt. Lyman Stanley, of the schooner Francis M. Parker, in Maine waters, August, 1894.—Bath Enterprise.

Rev. Elisha Skinner, of Hartland, died suddenly in that village about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. He had been to the river for a pail of water, and in returning, suddenly dropped down in the street near Walter Moor's, expiring instantly. It is said that Mr. Skinner was a native of Garland, and that he entered the ministry soon after the war. He remained in active service of the Methodist conference until about three years ago, when he took a superannuated relation. His age was about 76 years. He leaves a daughter and two sons, with one of whom, Omar, he spent the declining years of life in Hartland.

Vanceboro News.

Our correspondent writes: The death of Miss Lilian Crocker from diphtheria occurred Wednesday morning. The family was referred to in a former letter to THE WHIG. They reside about two miles below Vanceboro on the Lambert road. The mother of the children is sick and is not expected to recover. The girl referred to as dead contracted the disease while living with a family in the town of Danforth.

The town schools closed Wednesday, to remain so for two weeks. If the scarlet fever abates any by that time schools will open then.

A young man named Ollie Davis left Boston last summer. He carried an Edison phonograph with him. He travelled through the upper part of Maine this winter amusing the people of Houlton, Caribou and Presque Isle; then crossing into New Brunswick, where he stopped at several of the small towns along the St. John river until he struck Woodstock. Then the customs officers took his means of support from him, claiming it was smuggled, and then he offered to sell the machine. The young man had no money, and reached Vanceboro in that condition. The last seen of him by the Vanceboro people he was making some very high jumps trying to board the C. P. R. train—the blind baggage to be sure.

OLD SUPERSTITION.

What the Curfew Bell Meant in Olden Time.

And What it Should Mean To-day to Millions of People.

To Persons of Sense This Has Great Weight.

The curfew bell was no myth. It was a summons to the people to put out the fires, stop all labor and retire to sleep. It was a summons, also, which none dare disobey, for heavy penalties followed disobedience.

O, for a curfew bell at the present day! A bell whose ringing tones should summons us to rest from work! To rest from the intense, mad rush which hurries us on in the weakening, wearying, nerve-tearing, brain-destroying struggle of life.

Do you know what this means?

You professional and business men, how severe is the strain of thought and mind is plainly evidenced in your weakened nerves, your trembling on excitement, your sleepless, restless nights, your utterly relaxed nervous condition after mental work.

You clerks and mechanics, who work all day, how weak you grow, how pale, lifeless, spiritless you become, how dull and tired-headed.

You women, sales-girls, and those confined in mills, and factories, how heavy is your drudgery, how wearing upon your life, how enervating to your feelings, how exhausting to your strength, how blighting to your beauty. You are often nervous, generally weak and always tired.

Alas, no curfew bell can call a halt in the world's work, but a warning voice can direct you how best to overcome the nervous and physical weakness which such work entails. You who would be strong in nerve and brain, who would gain physical and mental strength to continue your work successfully, use as the vital restorative, the strengthener of brain and nerve, the giver of renewed life and vigor, that greatest of all medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Nothing on earth will so quickly and surely restore your strength.

Just see what it did for Mr. John Connors of 323 Rivington Street, New York City, who says:

"I cheerfully recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It has acted like a charm. Six months ago I became restless, weak and all broken up from unrefreshing sleep. My rest did me no good, I thought more harm than good. I had lost my appetite day by day.

"I saw my doctor and I tried different remedies recommended by the people I came in contact with as keeper in the Tombs, but of no avail, until one morning my wife got me a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I tried that bottle and it did me a world of good. I took five bottles in all but could have dropped off at three.

"My sleep is now of the most refreshing kind. I never remember in my 36 years feeling as well as I do to-day. My wife and two boys, five and three years old, are taking their first bottle, and they already show the benefit of it.

"I hope this will reach those unfortunates who are suffering as I suffered from loss of appetite, loss of sleep, unstrung nerves, melancholy feeling and general weakness, all of which I suffered from six months ago, and from which that valuable medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy relieved me forever, I hope and believe."

Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to conquer your weakness and debility. Use it and get yourself strong, vigorous and well.

This remarkable discovery should not be classed with the ordinary patent medicines. It is the prescription of the most successful specialist in nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., and he can be consulted by all without charge, personally or by letter.

The men live near each other in St. Michael's court, off Sanford street, and according to the evidence Jones has been seen "peeking" into Foster's windows. Foster says he warned Jones to keep away from his house whereupon Jones threw a brick at him. He threw it back at Jones. Jones says Foster threw the brick at him first.

Saturday night, James Burton, of Clinton, went away to pass Sunday with friends, leaving Mrs. Burton and four small children at home. It appears that the family retired at the usual hour, Saturday night, but did not awake until Monday morning, and then only by means of the application of restoratives by friends, the family having been found unconscious by Mr. Burton on his return Monday morning. It was found also that the gas from a coal stove had escaped, overcoming the family. One child, three months old, was found to be dead.

Visitors' day at the Maine Insane Hospital was on Thursday and Gen. R. B. Shepherd, of Skowhegan, and Hon. Judson Clark, of Calais, and Mr. C. S. Pearl, of Bangor, of the board of trustees, were present and made their visit. They found the wards in excellent condition and the institution throughout free from sickness. Their report was of a very commendary description. During their stay in Augusta, members of the State Board of Agriculture were taken over to the new barn by Dr. Sanborn, and they expressed the most unqualified praise of the new structure.

Our Orono correspondent writes: A very interesting meeting of the Island Reading Club was held at the home of Mrs. George Leonard, Thursday evening. Topics had been given each member of the club bearing on the trouble between Great Britain and Venezuela, each member prepared a paper on the topic assigned her and it proved a most successful literary entertainment, as much time and study had been given to the work of preparing the papers. Much information was gained respecting the country of Venezuela and the rights of other countries. The club would advise other clubs to try something of the kind.

The Presque Isle Star-Herald says: About nine o'clock Thursday morning two young men who happened to pass R. O. Howard's potato house on Academy street, discovered the building to be on fire. The headway the fire had made before its discovery, and the delay experienced in getting an effective stream of water, made it impossible to save the building in which the fire broke out. An adjoining building on the north, also belonging to Howard, was, however, saved. The building destroyed was occupied by Mr. Dura Stanchfield as a potato storehouse, and held a large quantity of potatoes, on which we understand there is an insurance of $2500. The building was insured for $600. About an hour after the fire started some one who woke up and saw the light of the fire rushed to the Free Baptist church and gave another alarm, and a third false alarm was raised about 6 in the morning, tending to make it a night of some excitement.

Last Sunday forenoon the water was partially drawn off from the mill pond at Newport in order to remove some planking that had been put in at the mouth of the saw mill flume last fall when the water was low, in order to obtain more head at the woolen mill flume on the west side. Mr. Charles Russell was working in the flume immediately below the bulk head, when, almost without warning, the timbers broke, letting the whole volume of water with logs, timber and plank down upon him. He took in the situation and acted upon the first idea for safety. He knew that his life depended upon reaching the log slip and getting behind it, else he would be crushed to death ten feet below, where the logs carried by the force of the water struck the rack or grating that prevents small drift from going through the wheel. He almost cleared himself with a few bounds but was thrown down once by the force of the water. Fortunately regaining his feet, he caught the endless log chain and swung himself under the slip, as the mass of logs and lumber struck the grating with a force that shook the mill to its foundation. The flume was immediately filled but Mr. Russell had a firm hold of the chain and rose with it. He was taken out in a few minutes but could barely stand from the strain and excitement of the imminent peril through which he had passed. He is a strong, active man, well acquainted with this mill, and this, together with remarkable presence of mind, saved his life.

CALL FOR A STEAMER.

Fire in Dexter Occasions Summons For Assistance But the Call Was Countermanded.

At 12.30 o'clock this morning the fire alarm sounded two strokes, the call for the chief engineer and a WHIG reporter hastened to the steamer's house on Harlow street to learn what was up.

Fire Commissioner J. F. Woodman, Chief Engineer Mason, Assistant Engineer Fellows and others arrived there and it was learned that there was a fire in Dexter and a call had been sent out for assistance. The woman telegraph operator in Dexter had sent a message to the Western Union office in this city stating that a big fire was in progress in the building in which the telegraph office and bank are located and asking the Bangor operator to telephone to the fire department for a steamer to be sent to Dexter. The message also stated that the water from the Dexter works was not working well.

She said "We are all afire and if it gets burning well the whole business part of the town will probably go."

Operator Nash telephoned the steamer's house and Driver Ambrose Merrill did the same to Fire Commissioner Woodman, who told him to give the chief engineer's call. Mr. Woodman upon coming to the steamer's house immediately telephoned to the Maine Central depot regarding a special train for Dexter and orders having been obtained from headquarters at Portland a train consisting of an engine, flat car and caboose was made up.

In the meantime Mr. Woodman had tried telegraphing and telephoning to Dexter for authority from the selectmen to send the steamer, as the fire apparatus is never sent away without such, but could reach nobody over the wires. Everything had been made ready to take the steamer to the Maine Central depot in case it was needed. At about 1.30 a message was received from Dexter stating that the steamer would not be needed.

The operator said the water was working better and the fire seemed to be under control. The extent of the fire or origin could not be learned.

BREWER BOARD OF TRADE.

Shoe Factory Projects Discussed Friday Evening.

A meeting of the Brewer board of trade was held Friday evening and it was largely attended by the members and a lively interest was shown. President Merrill was in the chair and Alderman Curtis was appointed secretary pro tem. in the absence of the regular official.

The committee on the bridge question and that on advertising asked for and were granted further time before reporting.

President Merrill announced that he had received two propositions looking toward the establishment of shoe factories in Brewer and the discussion of these occupied the remainder of the session. The first was for the establishment of a small plant but the second was from Mr. L. M. Reynolds, of Brockton, Mass., who is looking for a location in Maine for a factory of considerable capacity. He writes that his pay roll last year was $110,000 and wishes to know what inducements would be offered him to come to Brewer in the way of a building, etc.

The subject was discussed by quite a number of those present and the sentiment was general in favor of doing something to encourage the location of such a plant here. The plan suggested was to form a stock company to erect a building to be leased to the manufacturer for a term of years, forming the company of all in the city who would subscribe to the stock. It was thought that $10,000 would be necessary for the requisite building, and two citizens, Hugh O'Brien and E. B. Burr, have each offered to give a lot of land for a plant.

The subject was discussed with great interest, several of the speakers stating that they would subscribe to the building fund, and finally a committee consisting of P. H. Dunn, J. N. V. Lane and D. A. Sargent was appointed to see what could be done towards raising the necessary sum, they to act under the direction of the president.

The meeting was adjourned to Wednesday evening, the 29th inst.

"THE GRAND PARADA."

Interest in the Beautiful Spectacle Still at a High Pitch.

That the "Parada" has the finest staying qualities and wears well is shown every night at the Opera House and last night was another demonstration. The audience was again large, pleasure undiminished and the programme splendidly carried out.

Notwithstanding the fact that it was the fifth night of the "Parada" the audience was just as enthusiastic as on the first night and probably more so. It was not spontaneous combustion but a genuine expression of admiration for the meritorious work of all the participants in dance, song or march. Frequent applause and numerous encores were the rule.

It would be a difficult matter indeed to improve upon any of the dances and a special good word is due the "Gypsies" with Miss McIntyre as the queen.

The solos by Miss McIntyre, Miss Tebbets and Mr. W. A. Gordon were finely rendered and encored as usual, and the Apollo Quartette was again very favorably received. Daniel Chaplin Camp, Sons of Veterans, participated in the "Night in Camp."

This is the closing day of the "Parada" and all who have not seen it or desire to go again should remember the fact.

A matinee will be given promptly at 2.30 and the doors will be open at 2. The programme will be similar to that of the evening performances. Children under 15 will be admitted to any part of the theatre for 25 cents.

This evening the military scene will be omitted in order that every dance and march on the list may be given. It has taken two evenings to present the entire programme but to-night two programmes in one will be given and the "Parada" will come to a brilliant close.

Miss Gould, of Oldtown, will recite at both the matinee and evening performances.

There have been good sales of tickets for both and large audiences are assured.

A special train will be run to-night to accommodate the people of Oldtown and stations this side. Quite a large number will attend.

Amusement Notes.

We have received an announcement of the season of grand opera in Italian, French and German, under the auspices of Abbey, Schoeffel and Grau. The opening night of the grand opera season in French, Italian and German of 1895-96 will be Monday, February 17, in the Mechanics' Building Auditorium, Huntington avenue, Boston. The season will consist of twelve nights and two matinees. No extra performances will be given under any circumstances, and no return engagement this season.

The cause of the remarkable success of grand opera the last three seasons has given the key note for all operatic enterprises for the future—the works of the great composers, old and new, presented magnificently by the greatest lyric artists of the day. The management, after expressing its thanks for the generous support by which it has been sustained, desires to show its appreciation of that favor in the most effective manner possible. Nearly all the great favorites of last year have been re-engaged. In addition, the names of several other famous artists have been added to the list. The management has also decided to add a number of celebrated German artists, and to present the Wagner operas in the German language, all of which operas will be given with superior singers, equal to any who have ever been heard in the German language. The company, therefore, engaged for the opera season of 1895-96 will form a more complete organization than has yet been brought together in this or any other country.

The orchestra will be increased and, the management confidently expects, improved, an announcement which it is hoped will be warmly received by all lovers of good music.

The chorus will be strengthened by a number of young, fresh voices, to which will also be added an extra German chorus.

A FISH CASE

In The Municipal Court Friday.

In the Municipal Court Friday Frank Maguire, of this city, was tried for fishing at Field's pond and catching 15 pickerel with 15 set lines, the case coming under Chapter 65, Special Laws of 1878, which is as follows:

All persons are forbidden to take fish of any kind from Field's pond in the town of Orrington and from Brewer's pond in the towns of Orrington and Bucksport in the counties of Penobscot and Hancock, except with single hook and line.

J. F. Robinson, Esq., appeared for the respondent and argued that Maguire and his companion Frank Smith, who did not appear in the case as he is away, fished with 15 single lines but that they were single lines with single barbed hooks.

Judge Vose fined Maguire $75 and costs and the case was appealed.

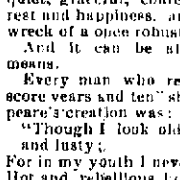
LUSTY OLD AGE.

ARE WE GROWING SHORTER LIVED?

The Winter of Our Discontent—How to Grow Old Gracefully and Healthfully.



There is no more pitiful sight than a doddering, half imbecile, rheumatic limping, emaciated and querulous old man or old woman.

And it is so unnecessary.

Old age should be quiet, graceful, contented, and full of rest and happiness, and not the pitiful wreck of a once robust manhood.

And it can be attained by simple means.

Every man who reaches the "three-score years and ten" should be as Shakespeare's creation was:

"Though I look old, yet I am strong and lusty;
For in my youth I never did apply
Hot and rebellious liquors in my blood,
Nor did not with unbashful forehead woo
The means of weakness and debility;
Therefore my age is as a lusty winter,
Frosty, but kindly."

Many strong men often die early, not because their vital forces are exhausted, but because they abuse their powers, waste their energies, and break down their constitutions.

Hence, careful people often live long, while people who are robust but rash go down to early graves.

But strange as it may seem, many men and women by adopting the right means have been able to overcome dangerous ailments that would have killed the strongest man. With care they have eventually gained a remarkable degree of health and vigor.

When one reaches the age of 40 care is necessary.

From birth to the age of 30 the growth and nourishment of the body is in excess of the waste.

From 30 to 40 we remain almost stationary; waste and nutrition about equally balanced.

But at and after 40 nature commences to tear down faster than she builds up.

To be sure it is only a little at a time, but the process is going on just the same.

Our kidneys now have extra work to do in throwing off the poisons and impurities that result from this wasting process.

This is why Rheumatism is so common in men past forty.

This is why Kidney disease that did not before show many symptoms now breaks forth in falling eyesight, weakness, torpor, and dropsy.

This is why you ought to use Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills and ease the strain upon these overworked and much neglected organs.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is nowhere so true as it is with the Kidneys.

Asparagus is nature's own remedy for Kidney disease.

And for weak and tired Kidneys also. Its use, in concentrated form, as in Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills, will help you to a frosty but a happy and hearty old age.

Besides, it causes the Kidneys to filter uric acid out of the blood, and thus both prevents and cures Rheumatism, that curse of advancing years.

It is marvelous how many different complaints it will cure. Its strong point lies in the fact that it acts quickly. It is a fact, that any pain anywhere, every lameness everywhere, is penetrated, relieved or cured by this wonderful, soothing Anodyne. It is the sovereign remedy for bites, burns, bruises. For backache, earache, headache, neckache, stomachache, toothache, in fact every ache. For scalds, stings, strains, sprains, stiff joints, swellings and sore muscles. For colds, chills, coughs and catarrh. For hacking, hoarseness and whooping cough. For asthma, bronchitis, diphtheria, la grippe, sore throat and lungs. For colic, croup, cramps, cholera morbus and summer complaints. For dyspeptic pains, neuralgia and muscular rheumatism. For cuts, cracks, corns, contusions, chaps and chilblains, all irritations and inflammations. For lame back, shoulder. For pains in chest, kidneys, stomach, use this great vital and muscle nervine. Every ailment above is caused by inflammation, to cure which Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was devised by Dr. A. Johnson for his own practice.
